Political Anticipation serving decision-making : Strategies and projects for a significant role of the Euro-BRICS Youth Platform in addressing multipolar world challenges

Dear EuroBRICS Youngsters,

LEAP is proud to invite you to join the next EuroBRICS Webinar!

It will take place on Monday, 18.04.2016, 1pm CET on the same Webinar platform as last time.

After a first webinar aimed at introducing you to LEAP's method of Political Anticipation, then followed by a session of anticipation of risks and challenges conveyed by the current global reconfiguration, the third webinar will invite members of the Euro-BRICS Youth Platform to present and discuss desirable and potential strategies for an impactful contribution of the Platform to addressing positively these challenges.

The floor will be open to three keynote speakers, active members of the Platform, to present bold ideas serving the above-defined purpose. Then a 45 minute discussion will follow. This webinar is meant as a direct preliminary contribution to the Euro-BRICS Week in Paris (which doesn't mean it is restricted to Paris participants).

LEAP would like to contribute a first proposal building on Marie-Hélène Caillol's presentation in the second webinar. In this presentation, Marie-Hélène insisted on the window of opportunity provided by the Indian presidency of the BRICS in bridging Europe and the BRICS. LEAP therefore estimates that, based on this understanding and the nature of the Euro-BRICS project and Platform, a large-ranging advocacy campaign in favour of the holding of a full-fledged Euro-BRICS Summit, should be a priority for the Platform this year.

We look forward to discussing this idea and more together online!

To confirm your participation send an e-mail @ vbaeyaert@leap2020.net , RSVP before April 14th.

Once you confirm your participation we will send you a link and invite you to a test session this week to avoid eventual technical problems.
